Anne Lucas: Ducks in a Row Organizers

→ Tell us about your business:

Ducks In A Row is a professional organizing and move management company. We help people clear their clutter and put their possessions in order so they can find what they need when it is needed. We can help in all areas of the home, kitchens, baths, basement, attics and garages. We can help determine what type of storage systems will help you keep things tidy whether it's shelving, cubbies, hooks or bins. We can also help with closet design if needed. My clients also include: people who are moving, seniors who are downsizing and anyone else who may need a hand with packing and unpacking.

→ How did you get started?

I started the business in 2000. I had seen a Hallmark Hall of Fame movie where the daughter went to her mom's house because the mom was hospitalized and she found the house in total disarray. The daughter hired a "clutter lady"! I said to myself, "that's what I should do".

→ What is a lesson you have learning from launching your own business?

I learn something new from each client but the most valuable thing I've learned is to let the client make the decisions around what to keep & not keep. It's my job to show them how then to keep the things they want.
